Moved by Singh, seconded by Mothe that the Assembly approve the proposed changes to Bylaw 7/A – Electoral Procedures, as circulated.

- Singh went over the memo with the Assembly.
- Mothe agreed with Singh and stated that this would give students more access to join the SRA.
- Dawdy asked if this was really a barrier to those who were uncontested. They asked if there were any instances of no-confidences.
- Singh stated that when running for a position, there should be an election for it. They explained the time expectations and that there are other different factors, such as creating campaign materials even if there were no competitors. Singh stated that removing this expectation will remove the barrier and make things easier.
- Wong clarified that anyone can still run in the election. They explained that the bylaw was changed after the President was acclaimed, but it didn't take into account how it would be for electing SRA members as well. They stated that it's a logistical issue and to have 31 seats open is a big strain on the department. Wong added that the election would still require the previous system in place, just that instead of the vote the seat would be acclaimed.
- Dawdy explained that with the process of gaining signatures in previous elections, there would be endorsements from your student body members and this method was to form confidence in their student body. Dawdy explained that the current system shows that as long as the candidate believed in themselves, then they could get the seat.
- Scott explained how nominations were to be submitted, and that the expectation of signatures being gathered was still required. The Assembly had a quick discussion about how that wasn't the case for a few of the elected members for this year.
- Singh felt that this change would bring in more interest from the student body and it would still allow the opportunity to run a proper election.
- Caputo stated that FYC was acclaimed and how it worked well for them and that there was a positive outcome with that as well.
- Arora asked how the new system would work. Arora ceded their time to Singh.

- Singh explained that if there were equal or less people running than there were available SRA seats, then those people would be acclaimed to those seats instead of going to a vote of confidence.
- Chui pointed out that the Presidential Elections would stay the same with a vote of confidence if only one candidate ran.
